Just had to see someone claim that “being into incest is morally neutral and if you disagree you’re an anti-sex puritan”

We’re never getting rid of rape culture or child abuse.

When will people stop bastardizing language around actual Purity Culture to defend heinous shit.

Especially when the people who are into incest are the ones who are also defending pedophiles. Can you people get your heads out of your fucking asses and connect the dots?

You can block anti-tma-and-tme-users because holy shit.

Rent lowering gunshots: Within the community of people who post about transandrophobia theory and work to challenge the overwhelming amounts of anti-transmasculinity both in online and irl spaces, I have noticed a concerning amount of puritanicalism anti-sex and anti-sexuality sentiments. From people in the campaign to call out Patricia Taxxon and I-Suggest-Forcefem, there were people shaming the kinks of both women instead of purely focusing on the bad things they were doing such as harming minors under the guise of "youthlib" and harboring pro-contact pedophiles among their ranks and perpetuating intersexism and anti-masculinity including butchmisia, anti-transmasculinity, and forcing gender-conformity and gender essentialist bullshit and also both having been racist a number of times. There was also a transmisogynistic and puritanical sentiment going around in some spaces that the majority of (if not all) trans women (with a focus on white trans women) were uniquely perverted and possessed dangerous or taboo kinks and fetishes or other sexual interests, when this is not the case whatsoever and is a harmful and bigoted thing to believe. Being into incest, forcefem, and mpreg are morally neutral things and what matters is how they are handled and that in the case of incest that it is not encouraged in reality but merely remains in fiction. None of these kinks are unique to trans women either and spreading that belief is transmisogynistic.

Additionally, there is the idea that depicting transmasculine or intersex people in any sexual context especially when done by people who are not transmasculine or intersex, or if they are transfem specifically when doing this, that it is harmful fetishization. This is not always the case whatsoever and transmasculine and intersex people can still be depicted sexually as adults by other adults. Like I am a transfemmasc intersex person and I have been writing a fetish story for my kink sideblog of my main account here on tumblr with two non-binary intersex people as the main characters and this is by no means harmful depiction nor fetishization and people who accuse me of such I would honestly call intersexist puritans because that's the rhetoric that intersexist puritans would use. I think the people who combat anti-transmasculinity, exorsexism, and intersexism need to face their internalized anti-sex sentiments and start also fighting for sex liberation because that is a core tenant of transfeminism and queer liberation. If you felt called out by this post, you are probably part of the problem, and I have a few people in mind.

how to tell everybody you have no problem with rape culture or a child abuse if you think people encouraging incest and glorifying incest is morally neutral.

These people are all ready defending pedophiles, you think them also glorifying incest and raping of child family members is just theoretical? And is not resulting in any direct harm to children? The people whose kink blogs are not even being marked as kink blogs? And you think them going around proudly saying that everybody should rape their fucking sister you think this is morally neutral?

Stop fucking actually appropriating language about actual purity culture to tell people that we need to be fine with people talking about how much they want everyone to rape their sister or baby brother.

What the fuck is wrong with you people. You will never actually fucking stand up for victims of child sexual abuse, you're too busy pretending that kink-shaming is the worst thing that could ever happen to someone.

Purity culture is not being upset when people publicly and without any warnings post graphic rape fantasies and encourage other people to rape their family members.

You are all disgusting people who are never fucking going to help and rape culture, you're too busy pretending that anything sexual is inherently good and morally neutral.

anti-TMA-and-tME-users is also claiming that it's people fighting against transandremisia, intersexism, and exorsexism that are the ones claiming that trans women are more likely to be into incest and pedophilia, as though that wasn't the literal transmisogynistic claims that Isuggestforcefem and people like her were banking on, hoping that because they happen to be trans women people would be too afraid to disagree.

So not only defending the glorification and encouragement of incest, but also just fucking flat out lying about who exactly is trying to equate trans women with incestuous pedophiles. It's the fucking incestous pedophiles, not the people trying to fucking call this shit out.

Okay then you want to explain to the class why you think people being rightfully upset by this, despite these posts also ~just being words on a screen~, are somehow harmful where encouraging explicit raping of child family members is supposedly morally neutral?

What's the matter? I thought it was just words on a screen and therefore harmless. Or does that only apply to encouraging people to rape children? And not people pointing out that that's a horrible fucking thing to do????

I swear to fuck these people are always the biggest hypocrites in the world. It's just harmless because it's just words. Okay but the people criticizing it are also just using words. So which is it?!?!?

Anybody trying to tell you that sex positivity requires you to uphold rape culture and a culture of child abuse is a fucking liar and abuse apologist. You are not sex negative for thinking that incest is disgusting and horrible, you’re just somebody who actually has morals and cares about the victims of it.

Rape culture isn’t sex positivity, it’s rape culture.

You are in fact correct to distrust anybody who encourages and glorifies pedophilia and rape of any kind, and yes this includes incest, no matter what the people who think it’s hot try to tell you.

You either actually want to fucking stop child abuse and rape culture, or you think that it’s morally neutral to glorify rape. You can’t have it both ways.

Do not fucking let anybody tell you that you have to think it’s morally neutral to glorify incest and pedophilia in order to be sex positive. That’s not sex positivity, that’s rape culture.

as someone who was preyed on by a cousin, incest as a kink is absolutely not fucking morally neutral and has the same issues as pretending that pedophilia as a kink is morally neutral. The two often fucking go hand in hand. If a person has said paraphilias engaging in them by making and sharing works that include such paraphilias as something good to jack off to is reenforcing and strengthing said paraphilia. And being in fucking echochambers of paraphiles celebrating their paraphilia as something that's not an issue is something that leads to actual people being harmed in real life also you probably shouldn't trust the opinions of folks who call the people pointing out that said paraphilias are harmful, since many of them are survivors of incest and being preyed on by pedophiles, as 'puritans' cause that's loaded as fuck

also I love how the dinguses who like to misuse "purity culture" as a cudgel against criticism [b/c apparently pointing out the harm caused by incest and pedophilia and that treating such as morally neutral is actually shit that leads to even more harm stop being just 'words on a screen' somehow] is how fuckers like to ignore what actual purity culture is and the survivors of such and how the church actually does love and defend pedophiles and people who commit incest so long as they're affiliated with the church

You cannot take a stand against pedophilia without also taking a stand against incest.

You cannot claim that people against incest are being "transmisogynistic". You cannot claim that people against pedophilia are "transmisogynistic"

If you tie the concept of trans women and incest and pedophilia as inseparable in your mind so that anyone who doesn't tolerate incest and pedophilia are somehow "hating on all trans women" that says more about YOUR mentality than anyone elses.

You cannot tie the concept of "trans women are all inherently pedophiles and into incest" together and then claim that's 100% always true and then say the people (including other trans women!!!) who are standing up against pedophilia and incest are "calling all trans women incestuous pedophiles" because that's LITERALLY WHAT YOU YOURSELF ARE DOING AND WE'RE FIGHTING BACK AGAINST THAT SHIT .

incest is not morally neutral, incest is child abuse, child rape, and pedophilia, and anyone who wants you to believe incest is fine and neutral is someone you need to block, deplatform, and warn others away from just the same as you do ISFF.

Block @/anti-tma-and-tme-users .

Misusing the term Purity Culture (which is a specific term about the damaging and traumatic effects of religious trauma has, especially on women in terms of sexual health and self worth), claiming that the people against ISFF and Patricia Taxxon are the ones equating trans women with pedophiles (as though ISFF is not the one who boldly made that claim and we're all fighting back against that shit?) and incest kinks, and claims, just like ISFF, that "if its just written text, it can't harm anyone as long as its fiction!!" As though that same fiction is not directly and actively used to groom children.

Incest is child sexual abuse. Incest is rape. Incest is pedophilia, and you must stand against anyone who wants to normalize it just as much as you do anyone who is trying to normalize pedophilia that isn't related to family members.

walks-the-ages

Lol. @/Now anti-tma-and-tme-users is trying to claim I'm "pedojacketing another trans fem on this site baselessly like has happened to so many other people" and hey if it quawks like a duck, walks like a duck, and thinks that incest is a morally neutral kink and that everyone else who is against ISFF and Patricia Taxxon are just puritan transmisogynists because we also talk about their harmful kinks that they glorify and normalize while grooming minors... Maybe you should rethink your fucking stance on "incest is morally neutral" if you don't want to have it pointed out that incest IS pedophilia 99.999% of the time and abuse 100% of the time?

Attempting to do damage control ain't gonna do shit when you've already shown yourself in the replies to people pointing out incest is harmful, even and especially in "fiction" -- aka, incest porn and romance that is used to groom real victims of incest.

Especially funny because I didn't even look at the blog description, so I'm not "targeting a trans fem with pedojacketing" I'm calling out a fucker for supporting incest porn and romance fiction as "morally neutral"

And once again, people misusing the term purity culture to defend their abuse apologism are erasing the fact that the actual systems of patriarchy and white supremacy that created and uphold purity culture are the ones harboring and encouraging the fucking pedophiles and incestous abusers!

Once again, these fucking trans misogynistic abuse apologists are trying to tie being a trans woman to being an abuse apologist or an abuser.

This isn’t fucking sex positive activism This is fucking rape culture and trans misogyny. Stop fucking hiding behind trans women to justify abuse apologism and rape culture!

Your fucking kinks do not exist in a fucking vacuum, They are built on and build up our fucking society And it's views around what is being depicted. And when you depict incestuous rape and pedophilia as good things, you are directly encouraging and upholding rape culture and the culture that allows child sexual abuse to happen on such a fucking scale as it does.

What happened to it being harmless if it's just words on a screen? Why does that only apply to the glorification of child sexual abuse, and not the people criticizing it?

It's always the same fucking arguments with these goddamn abuse apologists, it's okay when they do it, because it's just words on a screen, but when you criticize them for it with words on a screen while now suddenly you're the devil and evil and are harming them.

Nobody forced you to make that goddamn post encouraging and defending the glorification of child sexual abuse. You are proud of that post.

These are once again the social fucking consequences for telling everybody that you think child sexual abuse is hot and morally neutral.

If you don't want to be called and abuse apologist, don't proudly tell everyone that you're a fucking abuse apologist! It's literally not difficult!

Literally by all of these fucking incest apologists logic, if you made an entire blog dedicated to writing out graphic fantasies about how you want to rape (insert the minority this person belongs to in particular), They would understand that that is vile and disgusting bigotry. But because people are doing this about children, and explicitly encouraging other people to rape their younger siblings, they think that this is somehow magically fine.

And then act shocked when people are rightfully disgusted and horrified by the fact that they think this is okay, and call them what they are, a fucking rape apologist.

And once again, people are trying to tie being a trans woman to being a pedophile incest abuser, to try and make being a pedophile incest abuser seem like something that's good.

They are repeating the exact same transmisogynistic hate speech that conservatives love to throw around, but they're pretending that it's okay when they do it because they think being a pedophile incest apologist is good.

Literally saying that if you think child sexual abuse is bad and should not be glorified that that means you hate trans women. As though trans women have anything to do with this besides once again being thrown under the bus for the sake of protecting abusers and upholding rape culture.
